"I cortainly have no objection to giving a brief statement of our view of this rase, especially no this is in some sense a public matter," he said.
This suit for the appointment of a receiver of the Seattle, Lake Shore & Eastern Railway Company has been set on foot by the Northern Pacific Railway Company has been set on foot by the Northern Pacific Railway Company ior the purpose of wrecking the Seattle road. For the said eighteen mouths the Northern Pacific has tried eighteen mouths the Northern Pacific has tried by every means in its power to get possession of the Seattle, Lake Shore & Eastein railway. It has tried again and again to buy it, Failing in that it has instituted on elaborate system of lying about it both on this coast and in New York city. It hoped by the circulation of lake reports to so blacken the reputation of the road and those connected with it that no one would buy its securities. But those tactics likewise failed, and it is now engaged in its last desperate game, namely, an infamous attempt to use the courie of this state, by false representations, as a means of wrecking a rivel corporation.

OTAWA, Feb. 21.—The French language question is at last settled. After six days debutes a vote was arrived at to night. The government was sustained in its proposal to leave abolition of French in the Northwest territory to the local legislature. They got a mejority of 99. The covernment made a compromise with the opposition this morning and thus probably avoided dissolution. Colonel Amyott this afterneon said that were it not for the province of Quebec and her French institutions the United States would have annexed Canada long ago. He predicted that es soon as these fustilutions were wiped out by the English majority the country would be annexed. Sir Adolph Carpo, whose constituency is composed of a mixed French Catholic and English Protestan vote, left the house before the division, thus deliberately avoiding a vote. His conduct is severely commented upon.

London, Feb. 21.—[Dunlap's Cable News.]—The funcial of the late Joseph B.ggar, Parnellite member of parliament, was the occasion of a great religious coremony at the Roman Catholia church in Clapham, in spite of the hestility of clurrich in Clapham, in spite of the heatility of his sisters, whose political opinions are diametrically opposed to those of the late patriot. Other Paraelities had mustered in great force by 12 o'clock, when the services commenced, among them being Mr. T. C. O'Brien and Mr. Michael Davitt, who acted as pallbearers. After the commonies like body was escorted by the Irish mambers to the railway station and put on board the 4 o'clock train for Tayerpool on their way to Gavan, Ireland. On the arrival in Liverpool a painful and-exciting seems occurred. The shell in which the ordin was enclosed proved to be too large to go tuto the heares, and men were sent hurrying here and there to find a acrawdriver in order to take out the coffin.

This caused a delay of an hour, but at last the procession was formed, consisting of twelve carrages and thousends of sympathicing Irishmen, who, marsheled four deep, formed a column over a utile long. The streets along the route to the boat were lined by enthughastic yet respectable crowds, who uncovered their beads and secund visibly affected as the coffin passed by.

To Mr Groudan! belongs the credit of a most successful scheme for building a temporary hidge over a stream where there is an unevinor shifting bottom. This difficulty was encountered by him at Abernethy creek, just below Oregon City, where the bed of the stream was filled with old subten logs. The company's pile driver was tied up at Aurora, and could not be brought into use at Oregon City for a week. Mr Grondah! thereupon purchased 2000 sack: which he had filled with sand and built plers in the bed of the stream, upon which they bents for the bridge were then raised. U. S. BIGNAL SERVICE WEATERS REPORT. PORTLAND, Or., Feb. 21, 1820.

OREGONIANA.

John Garnier died at 1 is home on Sinslaw on the 11th instant, aged over 90 years. He came to this coast over seventy years ago, being only 18 years of age when he left his home in Canade, in the employ of the Hudson Bay Company.

Whenever the police officers discover a disreputable looking incividual in Pendic-ton, who appears to have no honest means to gain a livelihood, he is immediately re-quired to leave. The right shift have dis-posed of ten men of, this character within

George W. Dow was recently voted from his office as school director of District No. 17, Tillamook county, by his fellow directors. He appealed, and was sustained by the county superintendent, who said in substance that the county court alone has the power to remove a legally-elected director. George Chandler is mentioned for joint senter from Baker and Malbeir counties.

The Baker City Demoval says that Mr. Chandler has strendy served two terms as state senator from Baker county and he has given satisfaction, and that it will be hard for the republicans to trot out a man that can beat him.

The recent decision of the United States sourt, regarding the military wagon road cases, is welcome news o many cottlers in his county, says the Tip es-Mountaineer, who purchased their lands from the road compeny in good faith, and have made improve-ments thereon. To have disturbed the rights of these settlers would have been a great injustice, and the decis on will meet with the approbation of our people.

The appointment of Captain John W. Lews register of the laid office in this city, says The Dailes Times-Mountaineer, olthough unexpected, will be salisfactory to republicans in this vicinity. Captain Lowis is a resident of Grant county, is extensively en-gaged! in the sheep business, served in the army during the war, has been a life-long republican, and is in every way qualified for the position to which he has been nomi-

It meserted by those who present to how something shout the matter, says the East Oregonian, that the O. & W. W. R. Burgett, a wagon-maker of Spokane Falls, has filed suit in the superior court for $10,000 damages against Police Officers John Hanvey and F. H. Armstrong for attesting him without a warrant and false imprison-

It seems probable that Port Townsend may soor have a aree delivery system in connection with the postofile. There is atrong probability that a bill furnishing letter carriers to cities of more than 5000 inhabitants will pass congress at its present sassion, and this would include Port Townend.

Washington is making rather a bad showing since her admission as a state. The Walls Walls Statesman says: The peulten-tiary s filling up very rapidly. It is no untary a mining up very rapady. It is no un-semmon occurrence for batches of twelve or fourteen to be brought in at once from the Sound country whereas but a short time ago the reception of four or five was looked upon as something out of commo t.

The recent snows mean , heavy losses to stock owners in the country along Crab ereck, It is estimated that 60 per cont, of the stock has been lost. William Bingham, a: wel-known stock man of Lincolu and Spokane counties, is said to have lost 1000 head of horses, and out o 600 head of cattle V. V. Florence has been able to round up only 100. WOULD COST TOU $2. One of the most enthusiantic men in Portland yesterday was a stranger in the city who partood of the mid-day meal in Froliman's annex. "Why," said the genifeman, who had visited all the large Eastern centers, "Tromeun is the best exterer by far on the coast. In New York where the very best costs are employed, at princely salaries, the menn for lunch does not begin to compare with Fredmann's and such a mean in any of the large New York residurants would cost at least $2. In the Takoma, the hig hotel on Puget sound, I was distinged eventy-five counts for lunch, and it was a good one, too, but it did not compare in any respect with Prelimann's. I wat think of it for a membrat; you have two kinds of sours, elegantly grevel, means in profession, two kinds of fish, effices put on the table in the most delisions shape, salash, dessert, and a fragrant imported cigar, or an artifule drink prepared only at Fredmann can, all for the small sum of twenty-five cents.

GERMANY'S STRINGIH AND WEAK-AESS. The result of the Gorman election reveals at the same time the strength and weathers of the curious hybrid of Initiary absolut ism and popular government which constitutes the German empire. lords derives all its power from the sovereign, and a responsible to him alone If it has a majority in the resoluting, the government goes smoothly, if not it goes as best it can gots emoothly, if not is goes as seems to but if must go on all the same, until it suits the country the imperial whim or pleasure to change if In the multiplicity and compileation of parties in the reichstar, Bismarck has gen erally been able to govern by parliamentary combine tion; though this has imposed upon him a very tortuous course of states craft. At one time he has had to persecute Cathoffe bishops to gain votes from the progressisfs; at another he has had to cox a the pope to gain ultramontant votes against the progressists Just how long this sy tem of rading and balance can go on nobody can guess; but it seems to be nearing its term. Acts prowing out of the supposed necessities the having shot twice at his fait er seme Acts prowing out of the supposed necessities of imperial administration have alimited one party after another, until the govern-ment can only rely absolutely upon its own direct adherents, who were hitle more than one fourth of the last reachstag, and will be considerably less than one-fourth of the next The house elected in February 1887, next The nouse encied in restrictly 1041, contained 106 impusal sits and conservatives, (24 liberals, (the old progres 1sts.) 91 ultramontanes, 45 socialists and members of the popular party and 27 Poles, Alsatians and Hanoversans. The government depended for its majority in the last house, partly nnon the liberals and sometimes upon the Catholics Both fuled it when it came to passing the socialist bill, and it went into the elections with the odium of defeat cling-

Returns are still too incomplets to indicate how parties will stand in the next house. The socialist and liberal vote has increased everywhere and the conservative vote has fallen off, but it does not yet appear how this will affect the membership of the house A great deal will depend upon soc ond ballots These will generally be unfavorable to the government, but whether the socialists will vote for the liberal or the lib-erals for the socialist candidate, nobody can guess. An the latter not impossible event, the socialist party may come into the next house as strong as any of the others. It will not be for the immediate good of the socialists to make so remarkable a showing of strength as this. So rapid a growth may slarm the various parties that uphold the present social order, w thout supporting the present government, and dr ve them into the imperialist camp. The fear that socialism Li becoming so strong in the empire as to threaten the scability of existing institutions may open the way to new comb nations of the conse vatives with the liberals and the Cat solies and so indefinitely prolong im-perial control of legislation

TUBERCULOUS COWE.

This note is addressed to THE OREGONIAN. from 1 orest Grove, Wushington county

Two cows have died at this piece within the last two days of a disease supposed to be tuberou losis. The inimal wastes away and the lunes are both congested and rotten in the last stages of the disease Is tuberculosis in cattle contag our and if so, to what degree? Is there danger in either drinking milk or eating butter from cows which are not affected but are in an infected district?

Tuberculous in cattle is contagious, it is difficult to say in what degree, since it may be more or less so, according to varying conditions. But it certainly is contagious, and to prevent spread of the disease the animals affected should be killed or isolated. We can, however, see no reason to suppose that there is danger in milk and butter from cows in infected districts, but not themselves effected this, however, extremely difficult, in the presence of the insease and at its beginning to tell what animals are affected Development of the disease may proceed to some extent before the fact is known Before the Thursday Club of Restan

The arguments on the location of the proposed world's fair of 1892 were gone over before the national house of representatives Thursday The advocates of the four prominent cities, New York, Chicago, St. Lous and Washington each mide out a strong case showing conclusive! why the great exhibit would be a success i held at the particular city championed, and pre-dictinguts failure it it wer held anywhere else. The conclusion of the arguments left the house in the predicament of judges at a baby show—desirous of pleasing all, and morally certain that census will follow whatever it is The latter controversy that has arisen over the location of the fair has cooled the public ardor that the proposition at first awakened. There is a feeling that a full measure of success is not possible without harmony among the differeut cities and sections of the country, while the strife engendered by rivalry has apparently put harmony and practical good will out of the question

A thrity resident of St. Louis, whose name, Nail, is suggestive of his ability to drive a bargain, succeeded in geting an in-surance of $150,000 on the life of his wife and sought to furn his strewdness to account by the summary disposal of the insured through the agency of the pistol. The insurance companies thus levied upon. after the manner of stiff necked co porations of their kind, refused to liquid its until the cause and manner of Mrs bail's leath was fully made known to them. This resulted in exposing the money-making methods of the bereaved husband and his game was booked. THE WAGON ROLD APPEAL. In the United States circuit court yesterday, on motion of United States District Attorney Mays, Judgo Sabin imade on order allowing appeal in the case of the United States scains The Dalles and Oregon Courted Military Sagon Road Companies. There is no certainty that an appeal will be taken, but in order that the government might have opportunity to alpheal if it desired it was necessary that the order allowing appeal should be obtained during the same term in which the decision was made.

Testerday morning Thomas Whalen was brought before Judge Steams to plead to an indictment charging him with committing burdlers on the 12th inst. The prisoner was taken in court with chains, but Judges or was and sick that it is doubtful whether he would have excaped from his custodian had an opportunity been onwed him.

At first he pleaded not guilty, but his counsel induced him to withdraw his plea, as there was no possibility to escape forwiction. Whalen waived time for sentence and the court's judgment was that he be confined in the penticulary dor the period of severa years. The sentence fairly staggers it he wrote, and be could scarcely valle out of the courtont, so shaky were his legs.

PORTLAND, OR., Feb. 18, 1880. To whom it may concern:

This is to certify that a year ago next March I was taken down with typhoid laver. After I recovered it left me with indiamosalem of the atomical and bowels, with longs so healy affected that I could be heard all over the hottes extugiling to get my brists. I done that could be heard all over the hottes extugiling to get my brists. I doctored with several doctors with no relief. One learned psycician took me that I could not be curred, for there was no constitution to build not. Two weeks are I was confident that from the learned psycholar took of the course and springers; I have a good appeared an right well at night, and now sunsarine page, near and many. I can truly say that in Dr. Abern I have found such aspeared when he rim suffering that I consider him master of all lung troubes and chronic diseases, and had I not found him my case would have been hoppiess and faid in a few weeks. Saicountry home near Grinnell, lows, where his fasteen and mother are still living, and came to Fortland, aimed with a number of introductory latters which he henced would speedily secure for him a position more or less remunerative. He took a room in the lodging house over the Falmen, Gatten salcon on Ninth and Washington streets, and as he was of a soluist temperament, soon ingratiated himself into the good opinion of the lendlady, Mrs. M. J. Smith, and several of his follow lodgers. He was an examplary young man, as lar an opposition. He was a little on the visions: order, however, and was very senguine as to his shiftly to secure work: and also to dissharge the responsibilities of almost any position which hi might be lighty enough to stumble on to. His favorite perchant was for sketching, and a very pessable pastoral scene, the result of his labor of his spare botter, now adors the walls of his leadledy's room.

His active occupation, however, was chicily conduct to taking lessons in crayon drawing from his Smith, the artist, at Fourth and Washington streets, and to a number of ineffectual attempts at securing work. The last of these was made at Maryon's atable, where firs Smith; son, Elmer, is amployed. The effort was fruitiess, as the stable was already full banded.

MORE BUILDINGS ARE NEEDED.

The Demand for Houses of All Kinds Is Great

An advertisement inserted in The Unknowland of a rather nice seven-roomed, two-story cottage to let caused applications by the dosen. The house was soon samed for $40 per, month, and applicants continued to pour in who told the person in charge that she might as well have had $50 per month. Of comments was a nice new cofaon in charge that she might as well have had $50 per month. Of course this was a nice, new cottage in a destrable location, but just what persons in moderatio means country hore from the East to settle would think if asked $40 a month rent for any term on the bast to settle would brink if asked $40 a month rent for any term on the bast to sever-room house is difficult to imagine. They would probably think some one was trying to robbene, and they would not be very far out of the way. There is a great demand for houses and a great meny are being built, but the supply is far beind the domand.

The Board of Trade in their preparations for a magnificent Chamber of Commerce building should not forget that hundreds of houses will be should not forget that hundreds of houses will be magnificent Chamber of Commerce building, should not forget that hundreds of houses will be needed this summer, and again urgo upon the property holders the necessity for providing them. It some of the capitalists who belong to the board and who own most of the land and most of the money and most of the other things in this country, should get in and autonish the interestive day building a lot of handsome cottages, no harm would be done.

A vast amount of preliminary work has been done preparatory to commencing the census of this great American nation, which is to be taken this ammen. City Auditor Wood is fairly swamped under a vast accumulation of printed forms and hianks and documents from Superintendent of Cansus Porter, asking for information in regard to everything connected with the city and city affairs, public buildings, streets and sewers, water works, transportation focilities, commerce and all that sort of thing including the fluances of Portland for ten years. To properly answer the questions asked would take a man three mouths.

It is probable that a resolution will be adopted by the council instructing each of the city office to turnish all needed information in regard to the fluar transport of the council instructing each of the city office to turnish all needed information in regard to the fluar transport of the council instructing each of the city office to turnish all needed information in regard to the fluar transport of the council instructing each of the city office to the council instructing each of the city office the fluar transport of the council instruction and the city of the council instruction about the formation and this city will compare unfavorably with other cities which have more energy and enterprise enough to attend to this matter. The Board of Trade might very properly and in furnishing the information needed. It is often beautiful that for line, and there is no doubt of this last; but no one would ever find tout from the assessments roul, and some steps anould be caken to see that Portland is properly represented in the cefful of the property.

ern Agents. REGARDING BOATS AND STEAMERS. The Two New Laws in the Hands of the In-

The steamer Whitelaw leaves to day for Hunter's, a point on the Columbia, where she will remove the telegraph cable from that place to lead "City."

It is understood that persons engaged in the fishing business at Alaska, are endeavoring to secure the tag Oswago for fishing purposes in Alaskan waters. The Oswago harbeen engaged at towing in the Williamette for some tima. The stoamer Maria left down with the barken-tine Eureka yesterday afternoon for St. Helens. The vessel will be loaded with lumber at that place, and will then sail for San Pedro, Cal. The Eureka arrived from San Francisco, a lew days stone, with a cargo of general merchandise, which she discharged at Coloma dock.

Yestorday morning the steamship Danube arrived at Portland, and was moored at the dock, just below the steamer Alliance. The Danube as discharging a heavy cargo of general Chances merchandles. Her officers report the cold wave experienced here, extending over the Sound country, and is also felt severely at Victoria.

The Portland and Coast Steamship Company's ateamer Alliance arrived from Astoria yeaterday morning, and now lies near the foot of Detrect. She has a cargo of lumber and carried around from Gray's harbor about ten passengers. On her last trip out the ateamer encountered some very severe weather, but in returning the wind was moderate and a very pleasant voyage was experienced.

In compliance with the terms of the United States lood inspectors, a new built is soon to be put in the steamer Isabet. She is to be hauled upon the ways at the East Side shipyard, near the foot of U street, as seon as the Manzantillo, which is now undergoing general repairs, is launched. The Isabel, although successfully raised a short time since, has been materially wenkoned, and also, being an old boat, she was deemed unsafe.

After having laid at the bottom of the river since the recent cold snap the steam tug Annia is once more aftest, and goes about as lively as ever. Just preceding the flood, the Annie, in company with the ting Puritan, went down and suchored in Williamette slough, where they could be clear of the floating lee. One cold night the boat's appnon income up and burst, buttle in the waster, and before the leak was dispovered the Annie was nearly out of sight. The weather moderating, with the aid of purips and a seew alongside, the tug soon came to the surface.

mus for the repairing of the damaged Clan Mackenzie will probably soon be announced. During the latter part of the week two gentlemen representing different from works of San Francisco arrived in the city on the State of Celifornia, and baying gade a survey of the weeksage, will put in their bids. All the ship's sailors have been sleadily employed on the wreek, unfurifug the sails so that they would dry in the wind, and making themselves generally useful about the vessel. The hold has been pumped almost dry, and everything dustide has been thoroughly washed and scrubbed, nutil the decks present a more shippings appearance. Bids for the repairing of the damaged Clan Mackenzie will probably soon be announced.

The United States lighthouse steamship Man ganita came up the Williamette yesterday morrong, and now lies at the foot of R. street. The vessel has no board a half-dozon long piles, to be used as ever buyes in the channel of the Williamette, While berg, 'the officers of the steams' will also look after all the lights in the vives and accortain whother or not the channel has filled in by reason of the high water. The general impression new prevedent among steamboat men is that, instead of earth being weaked into the channel, the probabilities are that the river proper has been desponed, as the sand is not likely to actifie in deep water where there is a five or six mile an bour current, but rather in an eddy or backwater. Taking advantage of the few hours tie-up, and being in fresh water, the officers put the seamen at work painting the Manzanita's hull with lampblack and oil.

The new law requiring all occur going vestels of any kind to be provided with a gun and a life line, so that in ourse of distress while at sea the vestel and to the boat in danger, and by it effects means of sufely transferring those on board, and that went to have goine into effect the first of the prisent mouth, has been extended to July I by the board of superving inspectors, in the January session, at Washington, D. C. Messra, Edwards and McDemunt, the local inspectra, are also in receipt of another order from the "hody of ten" at Washington, to the effect the state at camers, whother infinitely river or occan, shall have on board a bell, as a means of signaling in logs, as well as the whistis. The order provides that when a steemer's at another during a fog or in the fair way of other vesses the bell shall be rung at intervals of two minutes. The order is a compliance with rule 4 of the rules and regulations governing piots. The inspectors having just received the new law, have not yet notified the

MEDICAL FAIR PLAY. Gov. Ferry Finds a Fatal Objection to Power's Bill. THE RIGHT OF APPEAL DENIED

Ex-Secretary Strave Says the Erasure in the gettie and Walls Walls Bill Was Proporly Made by the Eurolling Clerk.

Octavia, Feb. 22 - [Special Telegram.] -Octavia. Feb. 22 (Dipectal relegram. — Perovernor this afternoon gave a hearing to Colond T. V. Eddy, who presented a to Colond T. V. Eddy. who presented a furtin support of the constitutionality of the medical bill. The brief was quite, long be medical bill. The brief was quite, long the medical bill. The brief was quite, long and cited about fifty cases bearing directly and cited about most relied upon appeared to be the same most relied upon appeared to be the same and chapman vs. the same. In one miners and Chapman vs. the same. In one of these the ground of compleint was that a of these the ground or companie was that a license had been refused for unprofessional of these the ground services of or unprofessional Beese had been refused for unprofessional Beese had been to the other, that it had been recorded; in the other, that it had been recorded the supreme court sustained the was also relied on, in which the supreme court of that states austained the constitutionally of the act and cited as decivive the constitutions of the act and cited as decivive the constitutions of the act and cited as decivive the constitutions decisions above referred to. This case was within as it is possible on we state of plant with the service of the court of th in any east was to take away his property of the set was a business of law by depriving him without due process of law by depriving him of the right its profession, upon which he relied for his profits, and which which he relied for his profits, and which ris in effect his proporty. The supreme court exertuled this and affirmed the constiguing alice of the rel.

The points raised by the brief were disched overtice Ferry and Colonel Eddy cassed by Governor Ferry and Colonel Eddy obsed by dorement a cry and comment addy in two hours. It was clear that the gey-ener attached no weight to the term "regular" in the act, holding that in its general that it is deferred. similarilar it dole not confine the selection of the board of examiners to of members of the board of extensions to any achool of practitioners. He repeated his sympathy with the general purpose of the adistination of his intention to un-for the practice of medicine—but while givfor the practice of interaction and any figure of the intention to up-prove or veto the act the governor called at-tection to several of its clauses as inviting consideration on constitutional points. One of these is as to whether there is in the act of these is as to whether there is in the act adelgation of fegislative power by author-ting the heard of examiners to establish rigulations and value as, to the right of a num to practice medicine. Colonel Eddy argued that there is not, and that the act of the legislature itself determines such right, and the rules of the board are only necessary details and means of carrying the act Another clause in the act invites still Solve statements, the accretion who may be through to practice. It then proceeds to say that the board may refuse to grant a license broard solve a license broard solve a figure broard solve a figure solve or dishonorable conduct. and then says that "in all such cases there phillips the right of append to the appoint-ing power." The use of the word "such" here is peculiar. The act is copied from the Minnesota act, but the word is interpolated. The acts of Minnesota, Illinois and other Theact of Washington, by using the word "such" directly after and apparently in connection with the clause relating to dishoun-able conduct might be held to give the right of appeal to persons refused a license on this ground, while it denies that right to parson refused a license on other grounds.

This would be a discrimination which would footbless be unconstitutional. Colonel
Eddy argued that the word "such" does not limit the power of appeal to any claus of person, but that all who may be refused a license under the authority of any of the dames preceding the word will have the

Colonel Eddy sava be her no idea how the governor will decide, and that he seems to governor will decide, and that he seems to be merely weighing dispassionately the varous points at issue. ford bill in 1873. He has examined tood bill in 1873. He has examined the the we estime and says it is clearly the handwriting of the earolling clerk at that time, Miss Pokell. That lady is here now, but the excretary of stake sollice is closed to-day, and she could not examine the bill. The history of the bill shows that as first drawn be all liganted the lands on the building of fifteen miss of road. The inthicity of the een miles of road. The judiciary commuttes of the house proposed an amendment that the grant should not take effect till the road was completed to Waits Walls. The bouse adopted this amendment. The jourhalshows that the bill was amended in the sensie, but does not show what the umend-senste for the word "completed," and that, the encolling clerk inadvertently wrote "completed," and then changed it to "commeteed." There was but one enrolling clerk, and she had to hurry her work. If clerk, and she had to hurry her work. If bils were in good shape they were sometimes filed without enrollment. As to errors in indexing, Francis Henry says he did the work and is responsible for any stors. Henry is an attorney and real establishment, and Miss O'Neill has long been his clerk. Judge Struws says it has always been known that the word was "comhis clerk. Judge Struve says it has always been known that the word was "commenced" in the law, and no one has ever questioned it. It would have been objected to when the laws were published if not known to be correct. Governor Ferry does not remember, anything about the condition of the bill when he signed it.

MEMORIAL WINDOWS

And Done in Portland Too-Presented to the New Eshema Cathalia Church.

There were exhibited in the office of Messrs. Povey Brothers at 41 Second street yesterday two of the handsomest church windows ever seen on the coast. One of these was the figure of St. Patrics, the gift of P. J. Hennelly, formerly of Portland, but now a resident of Scheme, Washington, and the other the figure of St. Bernard, the but now a resident of Schomo, Washington, and the other the figure of St. Barnard, the gift of Edward Connelly, of Fairliaven, Washington. Both of the windows are of large size, being foncteen feet and six inches high, and three feet and six inches high, and three feet and six inches windows is of a mineral color, and is prepared by being placed in the furnace to be baxed, melted and turned into glass itself. The figure of St. Fabrick is of life size, representing the petron saint of Ireland in a star ding position holding the bishop staff in his left hand and with the right hand bointing downward, finger extended, and the snaked departing into the sea, the background of the shamreck and roses.

St. Bernard in the other window is represented with his acroll of manuscript standing erect, with the dragon chain behind him. Overhead in the cottex hape of these windows are embleme, that of St. Patrick bearing the sacred heart of Jesus with the crown of thorns, and that of St. Patrick bearing the sacred heart of Mary with the crown of thorns, and that of St. Patrick bearing the sacred heart of Mary with the crown of thorns, and that of St. Berhard braring the sacred heart of Mary with the crown of thorns, and that of St. Patrick bearing the sacred heart of Mary with the crown of thorns, and that of St. Berhard braring the sacred heart of Mary with the crown of thoses. St. Patrick bears the inscription "Presented by Edward Connelly in Memory of my Beloved Son, Berhard."

Both of these magnificent windows are the work of Missrs. Fovey Bros. The decorative art glass works at 44 Second. They are marvels of line work of this high order.

FROM ANACORTES.

m a Mere Villageto a Four ishing City Within a Period of a Few Months. ANACOUTES, Feb. 21.—[Special Correspondence.]—One section of the globe which is at the present mamout attracting considerable attention among capitalists and home seekers, is the thriving and bustling city of Ans-cortes, on Fidulgo island. The cause of this excitement and the rush of people from all parts of the United States and Canada Isdua to the solid improvements being made in the city and vicinity, amounting to several militons of dollars. The railroad grade along the shore of Fidalgo Island, from the old townsite of Ship Harbor, runs to Fidalgo buy, on the east side, and extends as far as the Skagtt river valley, 21 miles. Twelve miles of this grade your correspond-ont passed over, and found it one of the best constructed roadbeds to Washington, and as level as a macadam zed road. The intention of the company is to have thirty niles of this road in operation by August 15 next, and the non-completion by that date means a loss of several millions of dollars to the company.

When one considers that less than five weeks ago there were only about fifty inhabitants in Anacortes, and to-duy there are upwards of 2000 people in the place, and further, that improvements of a solid und substantial character meet the gaze in all displayed by the peop e here.

To neet all this rush the citizens, who are full of energy and determination in their endeavor to make Anacortes, with its glorious back country and coal mines, one, if not the most prominent city of Washington, have erected suitable and commodious hotels, where one can refresh the inner man on a scale even equal to many in San Francisco.

Freimann! Why, my dear lellow, I will tell you that there is but one Freimann to-day on the coust, and there will never be another. His cafe in this city would be a credit to New York, and it certainly speaks volumes for the enterprise of Portiand. Freimann sets to-day one of his higgest Sunday dinners, and if you want something really nice, served in a manner that approaches the best service of the famous Defimonico's, why just drop in there this afternoon.

Alisky's 145 First street, is where all the bon tons of the city take their Sunday dinner. This is one of the oldest and best known first-class restaurants of the coast, and it is certainly worthy of the enviable reputation that it enjoys. Eat there to day Baum & Brandes, proprietors.

He closed it with barricades at each end sever-He closed it with barricades at each end several days ago, but the barricades were removed once, and he had to replace them. He explained that the section above the railroad embankment is liable to collapse at any time, as the lower ends of the bents have no secure foundation. All the bents are "tied" together near the lower ends, and but for this the bents which support the section above the embankment would fall from under the bridge. The other bents, the comabove the embankment would full from under the bridge. The other beuts, the commissioner stated, are being forced out of position and the entire bridge endangered. He said the right way is to take the bridge down, and then put it back in such a way that it will stand. It would not cost as much to do this as it will cost the city to keep it in repuir. As the time draws near the opening of the spring campaign, and with the heavy shipments of goods arriving daily, the question presents itself to us in a more forcible manner than ever: "How can we gain room for the new goods?" There are only one or two ways. Store them, or sell off some of the stock on hand. We propose to sell off, and for the next week you will find things very lively around our establishment. Perhaps you think you are not in need of anything in our line. Just give us a call and we will convince you that we have no end of good things for you at such remarkably low prices that it will pay you to purchase and lay away in your trunk for future use.

The talk recently of vacating the road sressing the Tualatin at the Minto bridge, in Washington county, and consequently of near-prairing the bridge, has roused the ire of the people in the vicinity who are interested, and they are circulating a petition re-monstrating against the move.

What is the use of building a new courthouse or having an enalting act, says the West Fide, of Independence. The book "Looking Backward," by Edward Bellemy, ways that in the year 1900 all state and county government will be dispensed with.

It is said that the loss of whock in Baker sounty will not exceed 5 per cent. It is to be hoped that much is the case, says the Oregon Blade, but from the number of dead somes and eather along the river a person while asturally think that the loss was much greasit, or else nearly all the cattle that succembed went to the river to die.

The steamer Wonder has been working along, the river as far down as Clifton collecting the logs belonging to the Willamette Steam Mills, which were carried away by the floor. Captain Turner says that of the 4,600,000 feat which got away 3,000,000 have been recovered. He has collected 1900 logs along the river in the last two days, paying $1 a piece for them.

The people of North Yambill are anxious to co-operate with McMinnville in securing the Salem & Astoria railway. It is claimed that the meet feasible route from McMinn-ville lies up the valley to North Yambili, continuing thence to the mouth of Turner creek, a distance of four miles, and follow ing that stream in a northwesterly direc-tion a distance of eight miles to the head of

THE MORMON OVERVIEW.

Interview Wi h a Gentile General-The : Beginning of the End. SAN FIRANCISCO, Feb. 22.—[Special Telegram.].—O. W. Powers, ex-United States supreme justice of Utah, who had the management of the campaign in that territory against the Mormons; and who was pre-ferred by the citizens a few days since with a check a few days since for $10,000 for his skill in managing the campaign and bringing defeat to the Mormons, in the different start beauties of the Mormons, paign and bringing defeat to the Mormons, is in the city. Speaking of the effect of the election-Powers says:

The Gentiles scarcely realize yet the magnitude and importance of their victory. They attacked Mormonism in its stronghold, for Mormonism and the people's party are synonymous terms, and their success is a great step toward the solution of the Mormon problem. The benefits of duritiumph can already be discovered. There is manifestly a feeling of confidence in rail lines of bitimess. The Gentile victory mesus progress. It means better structs, free achoods, better municipal government and marvelous growth for the city. Barring the natural despondency, bitterforms and chasging which always goes with defeat, it may be said that the Mormons are behaving as well as can be asked.

In August we expect to carry the county with finds flows and obtain control of the county government, and we have more than a fighting chance of carrying the territory next November and of electing a tientile delegate to congress. We are going to make a strong dent, and we propose to win.

A PREACRER'S BUDDEN DEATH.

Hangest in Alabama for Polyoning His Wife.

—A Newro Executed.

MORTCOMERY, Ain., Feb. 22.—Rev. Henry Duncan, a white minister of the Freewill Baptist denomination, was hanged at Ozark yesterday for poisoning his wife, bright Lowe, colored, was hanged yesterday for the nurder of J. W. Mendows, white.

New Bineral Region to Montana Sr. Paus, Feb. 22.—A letter received here from Montane says the north half of that state is excited over unexpected discoveries of placer gold mines, quariz and silver; and lead galesta, in the mountain spurs and bills of the great reservation, as well as in the Belt mountains. One mine near Maiden is crushing enough rock with a twenty-stamp mill to turn out every mouth $100,000 in bullion. The projected railroad extension from Great Falls will, it is belived, husten development of that section into one of the richesta mineral belts in America. State mining inspectors say that over 12,000 mining claims have been located in Montans under the mining laws.

A-Million Offered for the Baseball League. New York, Feb. 22.—The latest baseball story comes to-night in the form of a report that: a syndicate, through the law firm of Tracy, McFarland, Irwins, Boardman & Platt, have offered $1,000,000 for the franchise of the National Baseball League, which embodies ten clubs. This is rating the clubs at $100,000 each, and would seem to place the league leaders in a peculiar pe-sition, in the light of stalements they have made frequently concerning; their small profits. The law firm in question reluse to disclose the names of the syndicate people, white Mr. Day, of the New York hall club, refused to talk on the matter.

Estitish Conquest of Chicago, Chicago, Feb. 22.—Mr. McMuliin, of the Alton road, one of the stockholders of the Union Stock Yards Company, said this evening that he believes the statement that negotiations for purchase of the yards by an English syndicate are pending is correct. He understands that the price is $20,000,000 instead of $30,000,600. President Sherman, of this stock yards company, admitted to-night that the deal might be negotiated by Rustern stockholders without his knowledge, but had no definite information.

Catholio Atlack on American Schools Catholin Attack on American Schools.
Newark, N. J., Feb. 22.—A letter from Bishop-Wigger will be read to-morrow in all the Catholic churches of this diocese, urging parents, under pain of excommunication, to send their children to parochial schools. The letter was issued last week, but not read in all the churches last Sunday. The bishop has now given strict orders that it be read to-morrow, on account of the alleged refusal of Father Corrigan, of Hoboken, to read it.

Mail and Freight for Portland. Mail and treight for Portland.

San's Fancisco, Peb. 22.—The steamer.

San's Rosa salied for Portland to-day enerying a large quantity of mail for the Northwest. The passenger list was very large, and for the past two days all offers to take freight have been refused. When the Santa Rosa salled she left behind enough freight to fill up one-liaif of the State of California's space for cargo, which steamer California's space for cargo, which steamer sails for Portland on Tuesday next.

Catholics Need Not Fast This Lent St. Lquis, Feb. 22,-The Western Watch-man a prominent Catholic weekly journal of this city, prints to day a letter from its Rome correspondent, in which he says the congregation of the universal inquisition has issued a degree, signed by Cardinal Monaco and published in the efficial organ of the Vatican holishing the Lenten fast and abstinence this year. This is extended to the whole world, the letter anys, wherever ordinaries shall judge the dispensation necessary. The reason for setting aside the Lenten obligation, it is claimed, is the prevailing influenza, which is making such ravages in all parts of Burope, and is thought to be prevalent in the United States. This decree, it is said, will be quite a surprise to Koman Catholics, as it is stated to be the first of the kind ever issued in the history of the church.

California Democratic Club Convention. SAN PRANCISCO, Feb. 22 - The state conwention of Iroqueis (democratic) clubs was held here to-day, and James V. Coleman, of San Francisco, was elected presider t, Max Popper vice president, Marion Devries secretary, and John Minushan, of Vallejo, BEYOND THE WILLAMETTE. Ommissioner's Report on the Bridge Across Sullivan's Galch.

Death of Miss Dowd-Pine Residences-At the Depot-Church Dedication-Donated a Ball-Interesting Notes.

Sireet Commissioner Spore said resterday that the Fifth street bridge across Sullyan's golde is unsafe for both teams and footmen. Hoclosed it with barricades at nach end several days ago, but the barricades were removed once, and he had to replace them. He explained that the section above the railroad embankment is liable to collapse at any time, as the lower ends of the bents have no secure foundation. All the bents are "tied" together near the lower ends, and but for this the bents which support the section above the embankment would fall from under the bridge. The other bents; the commissioner stated, are being forced out of position and the entire bridge endangered. He said the right way is to take the bridge down, and then put it back in such a way that it will stand. It would not cost as much to do this as it will cost the city to keep it in repair. The street commissioner plained that the section above the railroad nuch to do this as it will cost the city to keep it in repair. The street commissioner says he can take the timbers down and then but them back in such a way that it will stand, and not be out of shape and in an unsafe condition every few months.

Until something is done it would be well for even footmen to cross on the Fourthfor even sources bridge.

Church Dedication.

The Adams street. M. E. church. Stephens addition, East Portland, is to be dedicated Sunday, February 23, at 3 P. M., Rev. A. Kummer. D. D., of Taylor street M. PUNERAL ROTICE. The members of Orient lodge 1, 0, 0, F., are requested to meet at their hal, to-day at 1 P. M., to attend the funeral of our late. brother, Gustav Strube, which takes place at 2 P. M. from his residence. Members of sinterologues and visiting members are in-vited to attend. By order.

UNPAID WARRANTS. The city marshal, in accordance with the Interest instrain, in accordance with the order of the common council, levied on some property on Twenty-first street yesterduly, as the owners have failed to pay their assessment for street work. The contractors who did the work on this street want their cash.

AT THE DEPOT. The arrival and departure of the local valley trains keeps up the waning interest at the L street depot. But it does not compare with the life and bustle incident to the arriv-al and departure of through trains.

DONATED A BELL. Mr. Henry Prettyman of Mount Tabor donated a fine 1600-pound bell to the new Adams street M. E. church, which will soon Fourth street was filled with fearm of farmers from the country all day yesterday, and the street prevented an animated appearance.

Ex-Governor Thayer was in a Kast Fortland yesterday. He called at the school clerk's office, and when he went away he was abor, some cash. Some delay in getting the fron for the Woodstock & Waverly clertife railway out on the line has been caused by a missing bill of lading. The could will be straightened out shortly, the fron delivered and trackinging commenced.
The cable of the Eart street ferty, which was recomity recovered from the river, was tround around the rest yeareday. It has a good many kinks in it and looks as if it had had some hard service at the hottom of the river. The forry is using the old cable.

HARRIET BEECHER STOWE. Away back in the early years of the cen buty there was born in L tchfield. Conn , to a name which she was to perform no mean part in making famous, a little girl, who, after years of dreary, commonplace exist-ence, the chief element of which was toll snawered on the roll call of tame to the name of Harriet Deecher Stowe Her mother succumbed early to the combined forces of rapidly succeeding maternity and combination of the primal curse placed upon man and women at the fall, which has caused many a brood of I tile children to be left to a motherless childhood Significant in this connection we are fold that at the time of this mother's death Har that at the time of this moder a death with was less than 4 years old, Henry Ward less than 2, and he was not the youngest of the eight, of whom the oldest, Catherine with the century.

Harriet Eelizabeth Beecher was born on the 14th of June 1812, and was the sixth the 14th of June 1812, and was the sixen child of Rev Lyman Beecher and his first wife Rox wine Foote The story of her life with its years of dreary commonshee, its struggle with toil, powerly, hi health and depression, and its other years of political agitation and literary triumph is to d in a thick we time of 530 pages compiled from re and journals, under the sui erher letters and journals, under the sui er-vision of her son Charles Edward Slowe, and recently published by Houghton, Mif-Hr & Co . Boston

The book is criticised in that it makes nach of the little things of a childhood and farly womanhood that were barren of any thing of interest to the public beyond their connection with the name afterward made amous through the opportunities of the ime and the energy and suggest) that turn-

td them to a noble advantage
Mrs Slowe, who is closely verging upon seventy-eight years of age, and has been for scane years a semi invalid, her mind pertaking of the feebleness of her body, wrote the introduction to this volume It bears the introduction to this volume. It bears date of September 30, 1839 and though brief, it shows no evidence of a mind in eclipse. It is given in fas simile is happily conceived and is pathetic as the last words to the publia of one whose name was for a gammation upon every tongue, and whose work occu-pies a most conspicuous place in the annals

The child life of Mrs Slowe was of that mopish, dreary cast but belonged to the child's lot in the family of the strictly ortho-dox minister of that 'ime. The idea that she was a most beinous sirner weighed upon the spirit of the little girl, and struggling blindly with it she grew restless and un-happy to a miserable degree, a state which she only out-lived after years of struggle She began early in life the vocation of teach-ing school assisting her sister, Catherine, in the work in Cancannati for a period of eigh-teen years. It is recorded of this effort that "they began in ill health and depression, continued in poverty, anxiety and over

She was married in 1863, her husband, Cn'vin E Stowe being a professor in her father's theological school and the usual lot of woman became here. Children were born and died, household labor taxed her strength and occupied her time, and physical suffer ing drew heavily upon ber vital forces blio, however, even amid these cares and surroundings, found time for some laterary work, publishing a small volume in 1843 atributing an occasional story for the periodicals of those days She did not then, nor indeed until long after, show any inter-est in the institution of slavery, upon which her great life work centered, her thoughts

wich of her pleasure at the change adding that she was really glad for an excuse to I ain bed a few days " That the excuse was s legitimate one, is at ested by the fact that the occasion was furnished by the birth of ler seventh child, with whom in her arms she wrote the opening chapters of 'Uncle

This work was begun without moral or in tellectua preparation For her incidents she had only the barest facts supplied by others. Her personal knowledge of the workings of the institution with which she dealt was meager almost to nothingness, vet the spirit of inspiration working through her energy and the sense of justice that was her heritage, wrought out of such scanty materials as she could gather a story of wrong the pathos of which took the sympa th e; of tie world by storm. The book was not the result of deliberate plan or purpose It was written under engagement to furnish a serial story for an obscure publication for three months. It can for ten It simply grow upon her lands its orbdities were forgotten in the simplicity of its pathos, and at a Reston publisher made an "We have been told by farmers in Central We have been told by farmers in Central These." agreement with her to issue the story in book form for 10 per cent, royalty on the sales. At the end of three months this agreement brought to the straggling, poverty beset authoress $10,060, which sum was tuplicated during the next three, and the door of poverty was forever closed. behind her She grew ispidity in literary ex-cellence when opportunity was afforded her to do so. Travel lent its enlarging view to. her mind, and culture came and embellish her genus with its wonderful touch. A re-view of the struggles of this woman, of the slow years of her life in which hopeless poy-arty and drudgery were the chief elements; at her gradual awak ng to the enormity of the savery bight of the crude elements from which her wonderful yet simple story was weven of the sudden opaning wide of the door of vast opportunity for her, leaves an impression of a power behind this hum-bie instrument that used her merely to work Stage_artic will white even the most skep tori tread ng the mazes of this simple life through the slow years of unrecompensed to and unrecknowledged endeavor must force of corv ction stardily declares that

CHAMBER OF COMMITCE BUILDING

The Hast railway proposition and the plan for creet on of a Chamber of Commerce building the not at a 1 conte in conflict with each other They are in every way diffe pport o one does not preclude support of the other

In the roposition for a Chamber of Com there building no gratury is asked It is shorty proposed that stock shall be subset but it and paid in sufficient for purchase of a ste. Then money may be raised on for erection of a building. The in come or the property will meet the inter rular d v dead on the stock besides a suf floent king fully for payment of the bonds by at the expiration of twenty

It is proposed to incorporate with a capi tal stock of $300 000. One third to one half this amount should be subscribed in stock for purchase of a site Then it would be per cent, interest. The income from the essery—would make a handsome income for the stock, after provision was made for the bonds.

The proposed stock subscription, there fore, is an investment, not a gratuity Any subscriber who wished to reulize could sell its stock at par, or higher, after completion of the building. A thorough canvies of the city will be made for stock sub-criptions. and it is believed the public spirit of our people will maure an ample response

THE GOSPEL ACCORDING TO SAINT TIGER.

San Francisco is quite a city She has over three hundred thousand people, she her vast wealth, splendid scho dis churches, and public buildings, she has able and sow erful newspapers and her public men of all professions are distinguished for brains and culture. And yet San Francisco is the only city and California the only state save Texas enty and Camordan the only state says accase where a brutal prize fight can be fought to bloody sickening conclusion. In other words, Cairfornia, which never knew the demoralizing influences of human slavery, is the only state in this Union save Texas the tail end of the old South, where a pris fight is legally possible, the only st. to where Dempsey is cried over as a hero and martie when he is knocked out and is when he is Anoched out kind is the the as a compassion the figer when he historia, to 'knock out' his biceding staggering, helpless adversory. Dempsey is disjusting or ough, but the 2000 valuesees of this last gladiatoria, show in the areas of the Athletic ciub are more repuisive than Dempsey, for when Dempsey paused in his wo k not or when Dempary paired in this work had a thumb was reversed in the audience. The cry was Knock him out!" 'Finish kim, Jack!" Even the amphithents of pagma Rome had its days of mercy, but the drunken broadcioth of the Athleto Club is as silent and unsympathetic to the last of a prize fight as a pack of hereditary Spanish savages watching a bul light at Madrid The bull fight begins to grow obsolete in Spain, whose the prize fight seems to be renewing its youth at the Golden Gate of the Pacific When the brutal buttle is ever the compassionate tiger. Demp sey, becomes a double hero, first, becluse he pounded his adversary into help becfuse he pounded his adversary into help lessness, punching him in the stoma. I until he "threw up the spongo," and scondly because the diger evinced a spark of human weakness for his horrd work at the close. The delicacy of feeling manifested by this human tiger at the close of his meal was about as unexpected, surprising and inconslatent as the religious scruples of the Italian account when the property was a constant of the state of the s inn assassin who co ifessed that he had committed murder and had then lunched on the sandwickes found in his victim's pocket, taking care to throw away the meat because it was helder. And this is the kind of brutal pastime that San Francisco supports, —indeed the only sport that she will cordially support; for at the last meeting of the Pacific Coast Trutting Horse Ereeders' Association in October last, one of the directors remarked that it was very doubiful weether they would ever give another meeting at Sun Francisco He said: "We gave the best attractions that could be obtained and we are out about $2000 As a pr ze fighting town San Francisco beats the world, but for legitimate sports it is as dead as poor

Law District truck ' Burely the cruckings of peace are worse than those that are the grim necessities of a rightcous war. We venture to say that, out-side of the notions of the guerrilas and marauders there was nothing done by citter army during our civil war so thexcusably bratal, cruch and mmoral m its influence as the speciacle of a pree fight 'fought to the finish'. What is the matter with the so called civilization in our splendid sister the great life work centered, her thoughts being occupied and her strength fully texed with the burden of line as presented at her own door

It is a significant fact that Spain, chief worker of the tortures of the inquisition, and of the massacres of heretics, alone of Christian countries still clings to the bull flinous that the brown thrush did not sing for a year after Lincoln died. These farmers were really poets when they made this beautiful allusion to Lincoln's tender habit of dismounting from his horse in a forest to replace in their nest young birds which had fallen by the roadside. He could not sleep if a soldier boy was under sen-tence of death, but he wis deaf to appeals for mercy to convicted slave ship captains incendiaries Lincoln bern unde less friendly circumstances than Dempsey, Lincoln, of giant strength and courage, did not devote it to the business of a buildog but to the work of a man He was tender ness, married to truth and courage else to noble hearts is dross, all else on earth is mean." Francisco last week, nearly one third were from consumption and pneu monia, one tourth being from the first named disease. It is in consequen e of such a record as this that California physicians connected with the health department of the state have urged the fact that tubercular constitution is contactous and suggested the advisability of quarantine against the multitude of health seekers afflicted with this disease who visit that state every ; ear to die The yearly record of deaths from consume tion in California, it is declared, conveys the idea that that state is the home of this disease whereas it is merely a resort for per sons thus sillicted who go therein vain pur suit of beatth and who failing to relize ther expectations, have not the strength or the means to return home to die. The pale host of consumptives who flit from place to place, bearing the germs of the fatal disease within them, needing nothing so much as rest and quiec and home care enu ring the fatigue and disconforts of travel in the hope of receiving benefit from change of air forms a sad and steadily moving carevan the ranks of which though decimated constantly by death are kept full by the recru ting force of contagion To command a halt in the case of these afflicted ones seems cruel Hu manity indeed would cry out against such heneficially would be considered an unwar ranted proceeding There is httle doubt, however, that the increasing prevalence of consumption is due to the unchecked asso ciation of those afflicted with it with the family at home with the passengers on rail way trains and steamers with guests at hotels and with the community generally When this fact is fally accepted, as it is now reasonably well established intelligent people will tale such precautionary measures to preyent the contraction of the disease as dence may dietate or science direct Betil this t me the fact that the death rate tion consumption shows a sleady increase need exerte no surprise, since it simp y fol-lows the recognized law of cause and effect which is no where more marked or arbitrar; than in the course of disease

THE JAW OF THE STRONGLET

The error in Mr P A Chilstrom's gener The error in Mr. P. A. Chilstron's generally intelligent and good tempered discussion of the principle of co-operation is his curious assumption that The Orroomabelieves that might is, and ought to be, right This assumption is larged upon an errole in last bunday's proceeding out that in co-operative co-opies, as in all human society the larger share of the good things to be distributed falls to the stronges the sbrewdest the ablost. The Orroman expressed no oming a size to be moral recti expressed no common as to the moral rects tude of this rule. We would as soon think of di cussing the modelity of the law of gravitation. We simply pointed out that it is a fact-an u'timate basic law of buman nature which no araticust chance to the superficial on an act on of society can alter This law has ruled the world from the time when the lustice envage took the Lulf gnawed bone out of the north of his weaker brother to the time when Jay Gould gets the better of some less shrewd, but no more scrut alous Wail street rivi. and goes sailing around the world in a pulatial yacht while the other poor cevil goes to the simehouse or blows out his brans It will rule the world while the present race of beings inhabit it. It makes no difference whether it is right or wrong It is, and will be. The wisest thing is to recognize this. The co-operative or other association which ignores this law and as sumes a fraternal op it of respect for the rights of others which will secure to all, strong and week, thrifty and improvident, industrious and indoient, ingentous and shiftless thoughtful and reckless, a common share in the common stock of menns of maintenance and enjoyment, will go to smash, and the ablest members will save the biggest pieces. Whether or not this is right, it is a fact.
This immutable law once well understood and recognized, the place for the appli-cation of the rule of right and wrong is in its practical operation in human society. The progress of society from barbarism to civilization is marked, from stage to stage. by the growth of legal and moral restraints and limitations upon the law of the preva lence of the strongest The law is not abolished Human agency cannot do that, any more than it can aboush the law of gravitation. But its operation is limited by human laws for the protection of the weak, and its extreme and brutal enforcement is restricted by laws compelling respect for human liberly and personal property. These human laws, which modify and restract the natural law, as human agency modifies the opera-tion of the law of gravity and protects life and property from avalanches and floods, have their origin in the moral sentiments, developed through generations and centur-ies of accumulated and inherited experience Bight and wrong, as applied to social conditions, are relative terms What seems right to one ago revolts the finer moral ease of another From the literal enforcement of the law of the prevalunce of the strongest in a state of eaving ery, through the mod fication of ''s harsh ness by the inducance of religion in the mili-tary stages to the ultimate conficution of moral sentiments in the body of civil law which protects personal Pherty and the rights of property in the commercial age, the advance has been constant. The vital law of human nature has not been changed Every attempt to suppress or ignore it has resulted in failure, has temporari y reduced the section of society involved to primitive chaos, out of which order has been sowly and painfully worked by a return to natural methods but its barshness and severity has been progressively modified by the moral sentiments crystallized into human statutee

Reduced to its plainest and simplest ex prossion the modern conception of mutual human richts and obligations is something like this Fvery human being is entitled, first, to such freedom of action as he can exercise without infringing the equal rights of others, and second, to so much of that command of the means of enjoyment and maintenance which we call property, as he can secure by the industrions and dent employment of his natural powers of mind and body, within the limit of respect for the property rights of others set by the existing legal and moral code This prin existing legal and moral code. This print could be also not tend to equality in possessions by any means. There is infinite variety, not only in the degree of industry and prudence possessed by different persons, but in the degree of industry and prudence possessed by different persons, but in the degree of industry and prudence possessed by different persons, but in the degree of industry and prudence possesses an excellent education. not only in the degree of industry and pru dence possessed by different persons, but in their natural endowments. Superior mental vigor, as truly as superior industry and self denial, obtains its re-ward, pithin the limitations of the legal and moral code It is that it should Any system that de superior mentality its paralyze its exercise and deprive the world of its fruits. Any system that took the product of the capable to distribute among the incapable would deprive the latter class of any motive to emulate the achievement of the former It would demoralize both So far, modern sociology recognizes and endorses the law of the strongest—or, it is more accurate to say the law of the shrewd est But the profit of this law to the un scrupulous strong and its harsh bearing up on the honest week, is more and more rowed and modified every generation by the progressive solidification of the legal code which sends Napoleons of finance to fail and the moral code that holds Jay G infinences, even though he has been detected in no violation of statute. It is to this progressive growth of moral sentiments that we are to look rather than to an artificial

The success of the socialiets in the Gemin elections exceeds all expectations. They have polled a million and a haif of votes, and quadrupled their representation. in parliament, though this, under the im perial system of gerrymandering, is out of all proportion to their popular strength Their gains have been at the expense of the conservatives, imperialists and the liberals of all partes indeed, except the of all partes indeed, except the Catholics and unreconciled nationalities like the Poles and Alsatans. The general tendency of the election is towards the obliteration of moderate parties of all shades, and towards the bringing of the absolutists ard radicals face to face in the parliament. This may easily strengthen the hands of D smarck at the strengthen the hands of Bamarck at the outset it is quite possible that he may use the threat the socialist success implies to social order to induce the liberals and ultra-montanes to support his government. This is a rather ticklish dependence, however, and it is clear that the imperial system is weaker than ever since its establishment.

ENFORCING THE CRIMPING ACT.

The Seamon's Ommittee Holding Sessions -A Hearty Co-operation Is What Is Reeded.

The seamen's committee of the Board of . Trade are holding sessions, considering what progress has been made in the paforcement of the crimping act, and contemplating measures which seem likely to sid in that direction. Officer Byrnes makes a report which shows in many ways encourreport which shows in many ways encoun-aging progress. A good many sailors have been shipped without the payment of blood money to bearding house people. Some ships have had half their crew provided in this way. The most serious obstacle en-countered is found to be the support which connered is found to be the support which the nefarious practice receives at the hands of citizens of character and standing at Astoria. It has developed that the impression has widely, prevailed among merchants there that the law was primarily designed as a blew at Astoria. Steps are now being considered looking to a co-operation on the part of the better element of business men that the larges to secure a rigid enforcement. both places to secure a glgid enforcement of the law, so that wherever sailors are shipped, the commerce of the Columbia ampled, the continue of the solution, need not be made the prey of these shore pirates. The undertaking is not a very hopeful one, and its success is thought to be of doubtful issue, on account of the strength with which the boarding house people have intranched themselves with the commercial interests of Astoria.

EX-GOVERNOR SEMPLE,

Of the Great State of Washington.

The governor was seen vesterday by a reporter, at the Gilman, and in reply to a query as to business on the Sound, he remerzed: The influx of innufgration at the present time, especially for the season of the year, is somewhat remarkable, and in every direction much cuthusiasm is heing manifested in the rapid strides that will be made this year. In Tacoma and Scattle business men are pushing out as never before, which also applies to all the smaller and new Sound towns. The greatest field of act vity at the present time is at Annootes. TURNERS PARADE AND MASQUERADE. Processing on the Streets-A Grand Ball in the Evening-Those Awarded Frizes.

The Portland Social Turn Verein celebrated Washington's birthday yesterday with the usual carnival parade in the siternoon and grand masquerade ball in the noon and grand masquerade ball in the evening. The public was somewhat disap-pointed in the parade, as it was not got up-on the grand scale of bygons years. Eight or ten masked men on horsebeck and one wagon carrying the remains of the original McGinty was the extent of the procession. The day being warm and pleasant, thousands of people througed First street at the hour the procession was expected to pass. There was the usual delay, but then it a people enjoyed the heautiful day. The line of march was formed at Turner hall, corner of Fourth was formed at Turner hall, corner of Fourth and Yambill streets, and the procession moved down Yambill to Third, up Third to Montgomery, down Montgomery to First, down First to B. up B to Third, up Third to Washington, up Washington to Ninth, up Ninth to Yambill, and down Yambill back to Turner hall. The procession was beaded by the Marin e band, which discoursed most excellent inter along the way.

CHAND CARRIVAL BAble The Exposition building began to fill up by 8 o'clock in the evening, and by 9:30 when the First Infantry band a ruck up the grand march, there were fully 2000 people in the hait. Before the grand march the band played several concert selections, among which were "Turner's Motto" by Kiester, "Homburdon," a fubs solo, and "On Mountain Hights," a concert polonaise. The grand march was beeded by king carnival, Mr. L. Sanders, and queen carnival, Miss H. Turk, stiented by courtiers. It was an imposing speciacie. There were nearly 600 nuskers on the floor, and when they tripped sway on the merry swirl of a dance, they presented a dazzling array of brilliant colors, feathers and finery. The cosumes were elegant and rich, and many of them were original in design. At a quarter of 12 o'clock the mask and the judges announced the winners of the prizes.

The first prize for the best cu-tained gent's character, a gold watch with Elein movements, was awarded to Joseph Yone, who impersonated tha Indian, Chief Joseph. The second prize for the best sustained gent's character character, a gold-headed cane, was given to Charles Beekst, who represented a grand march, there were fully 2000 people in the hail. The feature of the banch was Leon's eclebrated donkoys, an astenishing exhibition of brute cuiture. The performance was simply famines and lad to be seen to be approximated. His surging donkey was marvolous. The centire performance was given in the Interest of the Schiller cigar as an act of courteey from Massas. Siebel, Mayer & Co., corner Oak and Niest streets.

A VEXED QUESTION.

The Contest for Supremacy Waged Balwaca Rival Towns in the New State of Washington.

"In seven years Seattle will be a bigger town than Portland." Buch was the remark overheard on a Morrison street corner yesterday. Now while it is impossible to make any Portlander credit this prediction, and indeed facts do not warrant it, this much must be acknowledged. Scattle is beyond all dispute destined to be the metropolis of Washington. Its location, there a few days age, and was simply astonished at the great development of the past few weeks. Like everybody cles I are always had abundent faith that a great and permanent city would spring up on the Lower Sound, and I believe Ameories is the place. She has all the advantages of the greatest seaports of the country, and in a very few years must rank as one of the anost important cities in the state.

Anacortes is more than a hundred miles from Tacoma and cannot be considered as a rival to either that city or Seattle, but its in my oploion in astitution to command the trade of the lower Sound. It has in such a position that the from, coal, marble, timber and other products of the mountains, headed the exprincitural wealth of the great Slagit valley, will gravitate to her wharves. The Skagit valley and the Samish and Swinomist flats, that it about the mouth of that river, constitute the richest body of agricultural wealth of the rich mining counties of Stevens; and Okanogran and the Lake Chelan and Okanogran and the same and the capital invested, the nush of the clifzens and its recognized present standing as the

The first to take the stand was the dend man's mother, Mrs. Sarah Johnson. She testified that her son was a laborer by occupation, unmarried, born in Nova Scotia, and about 40 years of age. He was addected to the use of intoricating liquors, and not infrequently went on a spree; that he liad been drinking, though not heavily, the day hefore his death. The mother was not aware of her son's tilness until Thursday morning between 10 and 11 o'clock, when another of her son's notified her of his brother's liness. She went to his lodging place, on Front and Clay streets, where the man was found in bed vary sick, and suffering great pain. When asked wint he had been drinking, he replied that the had taken a drink from a barrel, thinking it contained water and vinegar, down at the place where he had been morking, on the new store at the corner of Second and Morrison streets.

While in the East this gentleman selected for two clabilishments in this city with which he is so prominently econected, and other largest and best slacks of furniture ever before brought to this city, including a special collection of fine goods that were never before shown on the coast. Le bought some new designs that have never before been on sale even in the East, having been selected direct from the factories while the goods were in course of construction. In this connection it may be well to state that it is the present intention of Messrs. Forbes & Dreeden to be the corner of Pirst and Yambiil streets coinciding between the 20th of March and the 1st of April. The new goods selected by Mr. Breeden while East will be all opened and ready, for exhibition at the time of the opening of the new slore. To save the expense of moving their very heavy stock of goods this firm has decided to offer the public for the next two weeks some of their best goods in the furniture and expert lines as a considerable reduction from the usual retail price. This is not a "cleaning out sale," but simply a sale in which the public has a chance to purchase the best goods at low flures, it view of the very heavy expense necessarily stached to moving large stocks of goods. Dr. J. 9, Giltuor was sworh, and testified that he was called at 10 o'clock 'Thursday morning, and found Johnson suffering greatly and complaining of being 'all cramped up' about the stomach. He begged to have something done for him, and at first denied having either eaten or drank anything; but the man finally ucknowledged that he had drank something, and gave as his excuse that he was 'so thristy." In the doctor's judgment, Johnson died by "poison in the stomach."

It is an acknowledged fact that when his crack portion of our militia organization, does anything in a social way it is recheschein every respect. The informal party given by it on last Tuesday evening at Cardinell's hall was no exception to the rule, since it was one of the most enjoyable attains the company has ever given. The hall was in splendid condition for dancing, and the music, furnished by the regimental orchestra, was all that could be desired. The ladies were all handsomely dressed, and the gentle men in full evening attire, and as the merry dancers sped over the floor the scene presented was a most attractive one. MUSICAL AND LITERARY,

East Portland Entertainment.
The O. C. Social Club gave their first enfertainment on Monday evening last at St.
Francis hall in East Portland to standing room only. The first part of the programme was a miscellaneous one and was well received. Mr. Edward Quiun sang in good cerved. Mr. Edward Quinn sang in good style "Annie Booney." The dagger and murder scene from "Macheth" in costume, by Mr. Philip J. Brady and Miss Margaret Carroll, was most creditably done and showed careful study. The performance of Mr. Louis Henry in club swinging and that of Mr. George R. Smith on the invisible slack wire was highly appreciated. "When the Ouist Moon" was some by Mr. J. H. the Quiet Moon" was sung by Mr. J. H. Cass in his most effective manner.

Miss Dolly Sperry's recitation, "The Duckite Snake," was aplendidly given. "Who Will Buy My Roses Red," by Mrs. Westlake, was sung in a beautiful manner and received a deserved encore. One of the gems of the evening was the violin solo by Mr. J. B. Roth, who proved himself to be an artist on the instrument.

Mr. Thomas Jones, the lighting sketch artist, amused the audience by his many clever caricultures. his painting of Mt. Hood being especially well done.

Mr. Frank Hennessy's character songs were appreciated, particularly his impersonation of the policemen.

This ended the miscellaneous programme. Miss Ag atha Kelly, who was the accompanist, then sang "Home, Sweet Home," as the curtain was raised upon the two-act drama, 'Last Loaf." All in the cast acquifted themsolves creditably. Mr. Osgar Horne as Mark Ashton depleted the merchant, bro-ken down by his own weakness for drink. He portrayed the trials and temptations of life in a realistic manner. Miss Margaret most womanly rendition of her difficult role.
Mr. Phillip F. Kelley as Dick Bustle and Mr. William Cavanaugh as Tom Chubbs kept the audience in roars of laughter, and as comedians were a success. They were ably seconded by Miss Dolly Sperry in the part of Patty Jones, which created considerable amusement. Mr. Philip Brady as Caleb Hanson, the villain, assumed that thankless part well. Mr. Harry Dempsey as his son gave a manly rendition of his part, and Miss Lizzio Doro, as Lily Ashtor, daughter of Mrs. Ashton, acted her partin a most pleas-ing manner. The entertainment was in-every way one of the most enjoyable that has taken place on the East Side for a long

At Qallas.

The greatest social event of the senson was the grand masquerade ball given on last Thursday evening at the city hall by the ladies of Dallas. The stage in the hall was tasefully decorated with evergreeus and bouting, while here and there hang beamtiol landscape pictures, making the place at a giance inviting. At 7:33 o'clock the band played several lively airs in front of the hall and in a few moments all the others in the hall and in a few moments sil the chairs in the room were occupied, while the gallery was filled with spectators. As a few maskers had shown with spectators. As a few markers and shown themselves, curiosity began to run ligh, and continued till 8: 15, when the doors were thrown open and the crowd of markers numbering over flity filed in. Then the fun began. The snow-flake, the old darkey, the nobleman, the peasant, the thinaman, were all on an equality—and one was as much a puresty as the others. The band struck up a graid march, to which those hidden in mass circed around the room a time or two; then the merry dance was joined by all and continued till 10 clock, when the masks were removed. The prizes were awarded to Mr. Careflowe for the neatest costume and Miss Amy Livermore for the best sustained character. The dance then proceeded till supper time. dance then proceeded till suppor time.

At Centralis.

On Filday night a very enjoyable time was spent in Pelky's block, the occasion being a reunion of old soldiers and thoir friends to partake of a sunper gotten up by the Woman's Relief Corps. The tables were loaded with good things, which rapidly disappeared as one siter another filed in. Captain Berry, from Cheinsils, and Judge Ashmere, of Claquato, were among the visiting brethren. Singing was a part of the programme, and after suppor Binkley's cornet cand furnished some soul-artiring music, reminding the veterans of days gone by. The ladies of the corps were tastefully dressed in the Martha Washington style. The ball was appropriately decorated with dags and moitoes.

Dir. Theodore Hoss, one of Centralia's prominent business men, was married on Friday, and all their frieuds wish the couple much joy in their new life.

At All an.

Another pleasant drive whist party was held Thursday evening at the K. & L. of H. hall, in which a large number participated. Mrs. T. W. Fittenger and Mr. Loonts were the fortunate winners of the first prize, and Mrs. Milton and Mr. Miccely of the booby. Among those present were:

At The Dalles

At the Dalles.

The social season closed on Tuesday night last by a zociavé ho a which was given by the young ladies to their riany friends, and the spirit with which the young men joined their "sisters in arms" while keeping time to strains of delightfut music, showed how fully they appreciated this last endeaver of the young ladies to make last sight's party, what it proved to be, the crowning since as of the reason. The young men, while returning their harry thanks for this and similar pleasures now part, look forward with delight to ther me when they may entertain the young ladies, thereby proving the ignatines which words but feelly express. The hop was attended by all the representative society jeople of the city.

At Baker City.

The travesty on "Remeo and Juliet," presented by the amateurs on Tuesday night last, was a rare treat to the later City seeple. Just's opera house was crowded throughout, not a vacant sent to be seen in the dross circle, while the gaileries fairly ground under their heavy bund in. The place as traversided proves highly interesting, and is full of comic and indicrous scenes from beginning to end, being entirely free from all the "chestnuty" phrases of the original place. It was such a suc-cess that the performance was repeated next ovening.

At Milion and Weston At sisten and Weston.

The St. Valentine balls, both at Milton and Weston, were pleasant affairs and well attended. At the first named there were sixty couples in attendance, and at the latter forty couples.

A Female Fail.

The latest lad of the New York girls is journalism, says the New York correspondent of the Boston Herald. It is difficult to find a young woman in need of a little pin money who does not make a note of every peculiar incident that she is the observer of, with a view of sending it to some newspaper, hoping wildly that it will be printed, and a comfortable little check be returned in acknowledgment. The entertaining feature of this freshest teminine excitement is that every girl who indulges in it is utterly san-guine that each word she writes will be guine that each work she writes will be eagerly accepted by the spellbound editors, and that fame is rushing toward her with and that take is turning toward her with the speed of a well equipped locomotive. Unlike men, these aspirants for journalistic laurels regard the task of composing availa-ble newspaper reading about as seriously as they would that of sewing on their buttons; in trith. I believe they so about the literary exercise even more lightly than the domestic one. Journalism with them is not a profession, but a nastime. They are sure that they came into the world fully equipped for it, and that it can be taken up and enjoyed like a new novel. I met a girl the other day who has recently been reduced to a rather impecunious position in the world.
"Oh, I'm all right," she said. "I shall make plenty of money."

When she was asked what her plan was for enriching herself, she replied; going to begin writing for the newspapers

With a truly sublime faith this girl is now sending in manuscripts to all the newspaper offices in New York. Ten days of toil nave brought in nothing. DIVORCE' DOES WELL AT CORDRAY'S

"Sherandoah" This Week-A Bril lant Production Promised-"Hidden Hand" at the Muses -Military Play at New Park.

The regular dramatic season at the Marquam Grand was inaugurated on Monday evening last by Mr. Louis Harrison and his clover company in Charles A. Byrne's comic Chinese and English opera, "Pearl of Pekin." and to say that it made a hit is but to record a fact. A brilliant audience was present at the initial production, all the bares opening the company of the co boxes were occupied, and the scene was somewhat eminiscent of the night of the dedication.

The operate is one of those clever jumbles of music and comedy, without any bles of music and comedy, without any strong claim to originality, but made enjoyable by the talented people who interpret it, especially Louis Harrison as Ty for the folly mandarls. It has achieved considerable success during its two years' existence, and, with its bright and hand; one costumes, eigborate scenery, handsome women and capa-ble comedians, will be a drawing card for some time to come.

Leuis Harrison is as furny as can be lun-agined in the role of the great Tyfoo. His makeup is thoroughly in character and his acting is irresistibly amusing. He gets off quite a number of humorous hits on local and national topics and in all his comedy displays a fund of originality that is always a distinctive feature of his work. His topical song, "Near It," is nightly received with abundant applicuse and encores are enthusiastically demanded.

Mr. John C. Leach, as Sing High, a Chinese attendant, is true to nature in his delineation of the heathen.

Mr. Gilbert Clayton, as Sosoriki, gives a very creditable piece of comedy work, and Mr. Edward Webb, as Petic Pierre, looks and since the part in a satisfactory manner. of the ladies, Miss Ada Jenoure, as the nectly "Pearl of Pekin" does a most grace pretty "read of form" does a most grace-ful piece of acting and displays a delight-fully frosh and pleasing voice in her solo numbers. Miss Bertin Fisch as the dash-ing Finette throws the required life and movement into her rend tion of the role and Misses Add e Walton, Hattle Delaro, Annie Barrett and Minnie Dreher, as the four waiting maids look charmingly and add greatly to the attractions of the opera.

The chorus is well trained, and with its gigantic as well as midget male features, furnishes contrasts that are thoroughly amusing. The opera was well put on and seemed to please the large audiences which attend-

It is a matter of keen regret to the musical portion of the community that the contemplated visit of Sarasate and D'Albert, the famous violin virtuose and pianist, had to be canceled on account of their inability to reach the city in time to appear, without sacrificing other prior engagements. For some months the Eastern press has contained flattering accounts of the success of Bronson Howard's "Sbenan Josh." The special interest that it had for coast people was, that a California and Oregon manager had outstripped the New York managers, purchased it and was making a fortune with it. It will be the next dramatic attraction which Manager Hayman will introduce at the Marquam Grand, and will be given for five nights and a Saturday matince, com-menting next Wednesday evening. The play will be produced in precisely the same manner in regard to players, scenery and effects as seen for eight months in New York and the past four weeks at the Baldwin theater in San Francisco where it has been given to crowded houses, and from which city it comes difect. The fact that "Sher andoah" is he ar American author has made it appeal strongly to the public, whose patriotism it touches. It is well known that Bronson Howard

NEW PARK THEATER. A Short Sesson of the Legitimate by the Bandmann Company.

On Monday evening last the tracedian Danie. E. Bandmann opened at this house in the play of "Hamlet," supported by s company of rather doubtful merit. seems strange that an actor of Mr. Band-mann's experience and echolarly character should attempt to give the works of the great author without the proper surroundings of competent people and thorough stage appointments. No plays suffer so much in presentation from the lack of these essentials as do Shake peare's plays. Few actors can read has lines with intelligence, and there is nothing that so jars upon the cultured ear as to hear the grand lines with which every play. of the great bard glistens, indifferently snoken, or given with an evident ignorance of their meaning. For this reason, as much as any other, Shakespeare's plays are not given as often as we would like to see them.

Mr. Bandmann's "Hamlet," is in many respects a scholarly one. His readings at times are marked by an intelligence that indicates the student, and his acting is on the whole consistent, harring a tendency at in-terval; to be too robust. In the "Merchant of Venice" he attempted the crafty Shylock, but it cannot be said that his performance

A NARRATIVE OF FARLY INDIAN WAR FARE IN NEW ENGLAND.

EDITED BY FRANCES

BY FRANCIS PARKMAN.

[Converget, 1890, by S. S. McChire.] At the beginning of the last century the hoped on a season of repose and peace after the great French and Indian war that had tormented them for more than ten years. Their hope was disappointed, for a new war was soon kindled between France and England, and the American colonies of the two powers were forced to take the consequences. For twelve years more the horders of Maine, New Hampshire, and Massachusetts were harried by war parties from Caunda, till, in 1713, the peuce of Utrecht seemed to end their miseries. A few tranquit years followed, till, in 1722, the Indians of Kennebec, the Saco, and the Penolscot, provoked by wrongs and insti-gated by emissaries from Canada, fell again upon the border actitements, and a three years conflict ensued, sometimes known in its day as "Loyewell's War." It took this name from an incident which was long as famous in the traditions of New England as Chevy Chase in those of the Scottish border.

Out of the heart of the White mountains springs the river Seco, brawling among rocks down the great gorge of the Crawford Notch, fed by the foaming cascades that leap from the crags of Mount Webster; then winding through the Torests and intervals of Conway; then circling northward by the village of Fryeburg in devious wanderings among meadows, woods, and mountains, and then turning westward and southward to join the

on the banks of this erratic stream lived the Abenahi tribe known as the Sobosis. When the country was first visited by white men most of these Indians lived near the falls of the river, not far from its mouth, They retired before the English settlers and either joined their kindred in Maine or mi-grated to St. Francis and other Abenaki settlements in Canada. But a Sokoki band called Pigwackets, or Pequawkets, still kept its place on the upper waters of the river at a spot within the present town of Fryeburg. Except a much smaller band of and wily human game demanded far more hardihood and skill.

They brought home the scalps in triumph, together with the blankets and the new gons turnished to the slain warriors by their Canadian Irlends; and Loyeweil began at once to gather men for another hunt. The busy season of the farmers was at hand, and volunteers came in less freely than before. At the middle of April, however, he had raised a band of forty-six, of whom he was the captain, with Farwell and Robbins his heutenants. Though they were all regularly commissioned by the governor they were leady as rather than commanders, for they and their men were neighbors or acquaintances on terms of entire social equality. Two more of the number require mention. One was Seth Wyman, of Woburn, the second ensign, and the other was Jonathan Frye, of Andover, the chaplain, a youth of 21, graduated at Harvard collegs in 1723, and now a student of theology. Chaplain though he was he carried a guit, knife and latchet like the others, and not one of the party was more prompt to use them. more prompt to use them.

They began their march on April 15. A day or two after one William Cummings, of Dunstable, became so disabled by the effects of a wound received from Indians some time before that be could not keep on with the rest, and Lovewell sent him, back in charge of a kineman, thus reducing their number of orty-fun. forty-four. When they reached the west bank of Luke Ossinee, Benjamin Kidder, of Nutfield, fell seriously ill. To leave him unguarded in a place so dangerous was not to be thought of. His courades, therefore, built a small fort of pallsaded cabin at the edge of the water, and here the sick man was left in care of the dector, together with a guard of seven men, with their commander, Sergeant Woods. The rest, now reduced to thirty-four, continued their march through the forest northeastward toward Pequawket, while the savace heights of the White mountains, still covered with snow, rose above the dismal, bare forest on their left.

They crossed the Suco just below the site of Fryeburg, and in the night, as they ley in the woods near the north end of Lovewell's pond the men on guard heard sounds like Indians prowling about them. At dupbreak—it was Sunday, the 8th of Muy—as they slood barcheaded listening to a prayer from the young chaplain, they heard the report of a gun, and soon after discovered an Indian on the shore of n, pand at a considerable distance. Apparently he was shooting ducks, but Lovewell, suspecting a device to lure them into an ambuscade, asked the men whether they were for pushing forward or falling back, and with one voice they called upon him to lead them on. They were them in a piece of open pine woods trayersed by a small brook. He ordered them to lay down their pucks and advance with extreme caution. They had moved forward about a mile when they met an Indian coming toward them though the dense trees and bushes. He no sooner saw than than he fired at the leading men. His gun was charged with small shot, but he was so near his mark that the effect was equal to that of a builet, and he severely wounded Lovewell and a man named Whiting on which bethe Wyman shot him dead and the chaplain and another man scaped him.

Whiting: on which both Wyman shot him dead and the chaplain and another man scaiped him.

Lovewell, though beheved to be mortally hurt, was still able to walk, and the party fell back to the place where they had left their packs. The packs had disappeared, and suddenly, with frightful yells, the whole body of Pequawket warriors rushed from their biding places, firing as they came on. The survivors say that they were more than twice the number of the whites, which is probably an exaggeration, though their conduct, so uncumal with Indians, in rusting forward instead of firing from their ambush, shows a remarkable confidence in their nuncerical strength. They no doubt expected to strike their enemies with a banic. Lovewell received mother mortal wound, but he fired more than once on the Indians as he lay dying. His two heatenants, Farwell and Robbins; were also badly hurt. Eight others fell, but the others shood their ground and pushed the Indians so hard night others ten, but the others stood their, ground and pushed the Indians so hard that they drove them back to cover with heavy loss. One man played the coward, Benjamin Hussell, of Bunstable, who ran oft, escaped in the confusion, and made with his best speed for the fort at Lake Ussians.

Benjamin Hassell, of Bunstable, who ran olt, escaped in the contrison, and made with his best speed for the fort at Lake Ussipee.

The situation of the party was desperate, and nothing saved them from destruction but the prompt action of their surviving officers, only one of whom. Ensign Wyman, had escaped unduct, It was probably under his direction that the men fell back steadily to the shore of the pond, which was only a few rods distant. Here the water protected their rear so that they could not be surrounded; and now followed one of the most obstraate and deadly bush-fights the the annals of New England. It was about 10 o'clock when the firing began, and it lasted until night? The Jodiaus had the greater agility and skill in hiding and sheltering themselves, and the whites the greater steadiness; and coolness in using their guus. They fought in the shade, for the forest was dense; and all alike covered themselves as they best could behind trees, bushes, or fallen fromls, where each man crouched with eyes and mind intent, firing whenever he saw, or though he saw, the bead, limbs, or body of an enemy expased to sight for an instant. The Indians howled like wolves, yelled like enraged congars, and made the forest ring with their whoops, while the whites replied with shouts and cheers. At one time the Indians ceased firing and drew back among the trees and undergrowth, where, by the noise they made, they semediate he whites Seth Wyman crept up among the bushes, shot the citied confitter, and broke up the meeting. About the middle of the afternoon young Frye received as mortal wound. Unable to fight longer, he leay in his blood, praying from time to time for his comrades in a faint bui audible voice.

time to time for his comrades in a faint but audible voice.

Solomon Keyre, of Billerica, received two wounds, but fought on till a third shot struck him. He then crawled up to Wyng, nit the heat of the fight and told him that he was a dead man, but that the Instans should not get his scalp if he dould help it. Creeping along the spindy edge of the pond hechanced to find a stranded canner, rushed it affort, rolled himself into it, and drifted away before the wind.

Soon after sunset the Indians down of said.

Soon after suase! the Indians drew off and left the field to their enemies, living and dead, not even stopping to scalp the fallenarements are markable proof of the completeness of their discomfiture. Exhausted with lattique and hunger—for, having lost their packs in the morning, they had no lood—the surviving white men explored the scene of the fight. Jacob Farrar lay gasping his last by the edge of the water. Robert Usher and Leutenant Robbins were unable to move. Of the thirty-four men, mus had escaped without serious injury, eleven were badly wounded, and the rest were dead or dying, except the coward who had run off. About midnight, when the moon was up, such as had strength to walk left the ground. Robbins, as he lay helpless, asked one of the were badly wounded, and the rest were dead or dying, except the coward who had run off. About midnight, when the moon was up, such as had strength to walk left the ground. Robbins, as he lay helpless, asked one of them to load his gun, saying: "The Indians will come in the morning to scalp me and I'll kill snother of them if I can." Then we loaded the gun and left him.

To make one's way even by daylight through the snares and pitfalls of a New England forest is often a difficult task; it was trebly so in the gloom of night and overshadowing houghs, iamong the faken trees and the snarl of under-brush. Any but the most skillful woodsmen would infallely have lost their way. The Indians, sick of lighting, did not molest them. After struggling on for a mile or more Farwell, Frye and two other wounded men, Joshua Jones and Elhazer Davis, could go no further, and, with their consent, the others left them with a promise to send them help as soon as they should reach the fort. In the morning the near divided into several small parties, the botter to clude pursuit. One of these parties was tracked for some time by the Indians, and Elias Barron, becoming separated from his companions, was inver heard of, though the case of his gun was afterward found by the bank of the little river Ossipee. Eleven of the number at length reached the fort and to their amazement found nobody there. The runaway, Hassell, had reached it many hours before them, and to excuse his flight told so frightful a story of the fate of his comrades that his hearers were seized with a pair, shamefully abandoned their post and ser out for the settlements, leaving a writing on a piece of birch bark to the effect that all the rest were killed. They had left a supply of bread and pork, and while the famished eleven rested and refreshed themselves they were joined by Solomon the place of the fight. After drifting in a southerly direction for a considerable distance the wind blew him ashore, when, sputred by necessity and feeling himself, as be said, "wonderf afraid so die." They lett him, and says the old narrative, "he has not been heard of since."

Farwell died of exhaustion. The remaining two lost their way and become separated. After wandering eleven days Davironched the fort at Like Ossipec, and, finding food there, came into Berwick on the 27th. Jones, after fourteen days in the woods, arrived half dead in the village o Biddeford.

Some of the eleven who had first reached the for; together with Keyes, who joined there, came into the Dunstable during the night of the 13th, and the rest follower one or two days later. Endign Wyman, who was now the only officer is 't alive, and who had borne himself throughout with the ulmost trepidity, decision and good sense, reached the same place, along with three other men, on the 15th.

The runaway, Hassell, and the guard et the fort, whom he had infected with hateror, had lost no time in making the rway back to Dunstable, which they see a to have reached on the srening of the 11th. Horsenden were sent in haste to carry the dufful news to Boston, on which the governor sent orders to Colonel Tyng, of the militia, who was then at Dunstable, to gather men in the border towns; harch with all speed to the place of the fight, succor the wounded if any were still allive and attack the Indians if he could find them. Tyng called upon Harsell or go with him as a guide, but he was ill, or pretended to be so, on which one of the men who had been in the fight and had just returned offered to take his place. When the party reached the cene of the batte they saw the trees plentifally scarred with bullets, and presently found and buried the bodies of Lovewill, Robbins and ten others. The Indians, after their usual custom, had carried off or hidden their own dead; but Tryn's men estimated there was recognized as the war their Pangus, killed by Wyman, or, according to a doubtful tradition, by John Chambertin.

Not a living Indian was to be seen. The Pequawkets were coved by the month and conditions of the present of the month of the process ding they had met when they plainly expected a victory. Sone of them joined their Abenaki kinsmen in Canada and remained there, while others returned after the peace to their old hann's by the Saco; but they never again raised the hatchet against the English.

By Ida Case Watson,

In the year 1860 a rude cabin was erecte I on a little knoll above the Willamette river, to a little kild, above the writingete rive, to the north of what then promised to be the metropolis of the Northwest. The house was hastily built, as its crazy angles and checkered sides testified. The habitation, indeed, were a sorry look in the midst of its indeed, were a sorry leak in the midst of its surroundings. Its background was a green depth of forest trees and brush, which rose with a gentle sweep to the crest of a range of hills which cut off the Ingering rays of each setting sun. To the right and left the brush and rines grew to the mossy bank of the river, and before the house the beau liful Willamette stretched away to the oppt site bank, which seemed to advance and recode in the deceptive atnosphere.

But Horace had a bit of crue inflexibility in his nature, which was sufficient to crush is whatever of compassion might have grown in softer hearted Abe's breast. One morning, the day promising to wear an explession hearer a smile than nature had worn anon her face for many a day, the brothers left their mother before a fire and departed down the river in a leaky boat for their old fishing grounds. The clouds had lifted, and the fire, gray drazie was a relief after the recent pelting storms. Horace Maguire was one of the many strangers who were held prisoners during the days of suspended travel, and he employed his time in the seemingty not unciessant occupation of watching the discomfiure of his fellow-beings. Early and late he roamed about the inundated portion of the town. One night, when the water was at its height, he took the route to the site of his old home. The growth of the town had completely obliterated the old footpath, but here and there Horace told himself had stood the stumps and trees by which he and Abe had marked their road into town nine and twenty years ago. At last, hearing excited voices near the river, he hurried down it them, and found a number of men endeavoring to make that a boat to a much battered dock. Finding no place to bear a hand, and wishing to see what lay beyond the battered dock. Finding no place to bear a hand, and wishing to see what lay beyond the boat should she break dose, Horace hurried to the opposite side of a warehouse. The water washed further in here, and he wis obliged to swing himself upon a low shed to gain a desired position. As he did so the structure seemed to break from its foundation, and with a shudder it swoug out into the current, with Horace astride its roof. His brain whilled with a sickening fear for a moment, then, with a crash, the little house, struck against the plies of a dock, throwing him from his position, and sending the roof into the surging waters. Horace clumg to a projectire board, and gozed in horror at the sight the shantering of the shed had disclosed. The sky was clear, and the moon litups a rule couch with a figure upon it, which held a bottle clasped in its stiffened flagers. How Senatorial Millionaire Hearst Buys Property.

GEORGE KENNAN'S VAST PROFITS

The Great American Brain-Women Suffragists

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 -[Special Correspendence.—George Eearst, the millionaire senator from California, is bringing his mining knowledge to bear on the regions about Washington, and during the past week he has invested in some cannol coal veins in . has invested in some cannel coal vains in West Virginie which, I am told, will make him another fortune Thomas Jufferson Clunis, one of the new representatives from San Trancisco, went with Hearst to make the purchase, and he tells the story. Said her "The trip taught me how Hearst made his fortune. It showed me that he was a sharp business man, and this West Virginia sale will serve a good insight into his charac-business man, and this West Virginia sale will give you a good insight into his character. We found the coal vains all right. There were several of them, each of which had is price, and each of which contained a different variety of coal. The owners began to expatinte upon their virtues as soon as we arrived. The vein they particularly winted to sell was 3000 feet up the mout ain side. They had samples of it at the foot of the hill, and the vein looked well from the distance. The samples were fine, from the distance. The samples were fine, the price was low and I expected to see Hearst enap at the offer. As he did not, I before we discuss the price.

Climbed up to the vein, and Senator Hearst took a piece of the coal and lit it with a match. Cannel coal will burn like turpen-

There, Clunie, that's no good. There are other varieties of coal than cannel coal which will burn upon being lit, but the best cannel coal will continue to burn until it is reduced to ashes. This plece is not cannel cit all and I would not give a blank for this veiniff we could get it for nothing.

"We then sampled another vein, going through the same process. Sensitor Hearst put a big chunk of carbon on the ground and fit it, and as it crackled away he watched it as a mother does her firstborn. When it was balf consumed I said: 'Well, senator, are you satisfied now?'

"No, I'm not,' replied Senator Hearst, and he kerr his even on the bigs nglump for are you satisfied now." "No, i'm not," replied Senator Hearst, and he kept his eyes on the biaz ng lump for fully ten minutes longer. At the end of that time the fire had died out and only a heep of gray sahes remained on the ground. Senator Hearst then said:

"That settles it," and he thereupon went to the West Virginian and bought the vein. It is a valuable property and it will probably make him a great deal of money. It was in this same way that he made millions in the gold mines of California. He looked at every mine he bought for himself and the most of those he invested in he bought upon option, working them for six months, and it they paid out as represented buying them at the end of that time outright. The result was that he aiways made and never lost. Some call his good fortune luck. I call it brains.

"Where did Hearst come from?" said I.

"Where did Hearst come from?' said I.
"He was born in Misscuri, replied Congressmen Clunie. His folks lived near St.
Louis, and were well to do. Hearst began life by keeping store but his health was poor and his business did not pay, so be concluded to go West. He sold out his store for a promissory note of $1000. This in addition to his expenses was the sum of his possessions when he started for California. He sions when he started for California. It turned out to be worth only the paper on which it was written and Senator Hearst still keeps it as an actographic curio. He went from Missouri to California, bought a pick and began at once to dig gold for himself. He was lucky from the first and he soon accommulated a big of gold representing at least, $500,000. This gold was made up of dust, slag and gold-sized nuggets, including some as big as your list. He took it of San Francisco and deposited it cluding some as big as your list. He took it to San Francisco and deposited it with a banker named Lent, A lew days, later knot's hank broke and Hearst found himself noorer than when he came to California. He had scarcely the money to buy a new pick but he borrowed enough to put himself on his feet and his good fortune stayed with him. He kept on making money send he has at times owned mines and mills on the Pacific coast which save employment to 2000 men and

Speaking of literary matters, I understand that Henry Adams is still at work upon his history of the United States during Jefferson's administratior. He has had four volumes of this work already published, and Bang-oft looked over the proofs and gave him his literary advice. The work as completed will be a very valuable one, and Mr. Adams has the advantage of the valuable papers of John Qu ney Adams and John Adams in the preparation of it.

The hierraphy of Lincoln by Nicolay and

Adams in the preparation of it.

The biography of Lincoln by Nicolay and Hay is being prepared for book form. John G. Nicolay as editing the matter and reading the proofs, and there is no doubt that he and Mr. Hay will make considerably more than the $50,000 which they received for the manuscript from the Century, Company out of the false of the book.

I see that George Kennan, the Siberian explorer offers his valuable lots on Sixteenth street for sale. These are in the most advancing part of the capital, and they cost Kennan. I san tole, $20,000. He will undoubtedly make something out of it. Mr. Kennan is mading clotes of money out of it. Mr. Kennan is mading clotes of money out of his lectures. I chatted with Adee, the assistant secretary of state, about him the other day. He said: "Kennan's auit of prison clothes and the fron chain which he brought with him from Biberia to America have already brought him in $50,000, and they are adding to his bank account every night. At the close of svery lecture he appears upon the stage in this prison garb, and he finds it as uccessful feature." Major Pond, the lecture manager of New York, told me that Kennan was his best card. Baid he: "I have booked more than $20,000 worth of contracts for him this scason, and he is the best paying lecturer in the field. One of his secrets of success ites in the fact that he prepared himself well before going on the stage, and another is the splendid advertisement which the Century Magazine has given him." Dr. Burnett, the dark-eyed husband of Frances Hodgson Eurnett, tells me that she is growing better in London and that she will return home as soon as she is able to travel. She was preparing to come to America when she was thrown from the carriage, and she has been able to do no literary work to speak of since then. She has some plans manuscript or in well-advanced preparation. Dr. Burnett says that "Little Lord Fauntleroy" paid very well as a book and as a play. Bighty thousand copies of the book were sold and it is still selling widely. The original Little Lord Fauntleroy is now in Washington going to school. He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Burnett.

A reminiscence of stanton Ingalla re-

A REMINISCENCE OF STANTON.

The carridge which Senator Ingalls re-ceived by mail from Mississippi a week ago. The carridge which Senator Ingalls received by mail from Mississippi a week ago brings to me a curious reminiscence of Secretary Stanton. It was during the stormlest day of the war, just before the emancipation proclamation had been issued, and when the colored man was the prominent factor in every man's mind. Stanton was sitting around his family table one evening, when a bundle of mail was brought to him direct from the postoffice. In it there was a little package of about the size of the box which held the cartridge received by Senator Ingalls. The package was opened and inside the paper there was a long round roll of linen cloth about an inch in diameter. Secretary Stanton took out the pin which held the roll and began to unwind it. He went on, and after two wrappers had been removed, the ghastly thumb of a negro was found within. It had blooded the rag which was around it, and it had evidently been out from a living man, or one who had but a few moments before the cutting died. The eye witness of the opening tells me that the nail of the thumb was roughened as with hard work, and that the skin on the front of it was worn white by labor. He describes the disgust of the Secretary and his family and says that the incident did not help the cause of the South with the gruff was secretary.

WASHINGTON CAPTURED BY SUFFRAGISTS.

The women suffragists have captured the causted Elizabeth Cady Stanton troes about.

The women suffragists have captured the capital. Elizabeth Cady Stanton trots about, as though she owned Washington, Phobocapital. Educated Gay Station troes and to as though she owned Washington, Phobo Couzine's eyes snap with grit and determination, and Helen M. Gougar acts, as though she weighed a ton. May Wright Sewell has put on her war paint, and Susan B. Anthony is making scores of votes by her slege on the congressmen in the capitol committee rooms. Susan is 70 years old this month, but she looks no older than when I first met her years ago, and her eyes are as bright, and her brain is as clear as it was in the sirtles. She has devoted her life to woman's rights, and she has come into close association with the public men of the country for two generations. She is not a blusterer nor a notoriety seeker, and she has never cut off her hair, though she were once bloomer pantaloons. She dressee as well as any lady of Washington and she is fond of black silk as stiff as a board. She has the brain of a man rather than one of a woman, and her warm gray eyes look out through bold glasses in a very fetching way. I saw her chatting with Sanator George Frisble Hoar, of Massachusetts, in Statuary hall at the capitol this afternoon, and Hoar's face of Masanchusetts, in Statuary hall at the capitol this alternoon, and Hoar's face beamed with smiles, and his great round blue eyes popped out with kindness as he looked down upon her with a Horace Greeley air. To my mind be looked more like a grandmother than she did, and the picture might have served for a model for a great painting of the platonic affections of January and December. As I looked at them panning of the platonic allections of Jan-uary and December. As I looked at them they were proudly rehearsing old times to-gether for both seemed decidedly tickled. I did not address either, but merely said to myself, "Oh, you giddy things," and walked

The marriage of the Brownings was a wall-remembered romancely the house of Chelsea. Miss Barrethad sent Carlyle berearly poems in manuscript, and the rhyme-hater at first discouraged her some more; but when he found that she was hopelessly couch ridden, and furthermore fairly imprisoned by a tyrannous father, 'whose lightest wor's the stood out as a law of the Medea and Persians,' he thought it fortunate that she was hopelessly couch ridden, her side in two lines of 'Lady Geraldine's Courthilp.' THE AFRICAN WIZARD.

A Chat With the White-Haired Explorer of Cairo.

HE SAYS HE NEVER TAKES RISKS

His Mind is of a Reverential Turn and He Believes in a Divine and Protecting Providence-

Thomas Stevens' African correspondence in New York World: Oh, will ever our mother earth produce the like of Stanley ngain ! There would have been big a gold star, with diamonds, perhaps, even had there been no Mombasa, no l. B. E. A. Co.'s newly acquired possessions in which to bestow it upon you.

In little things as well as in bigger our illustrious compatriot grows more and more unfathonable to ordinary minds, and higher and higher beyond the reach and ken of ment. The more I see and mingle with the world, and find myself in position o draw comparison, the prouder I become of the United States. We have the Wizard of Mento park, and no less a wizard than either of heae is the Wizard of Africa, also a strictly American production, though not born on its soil.

Did the readers of the World ever think of Mr. Stanley as a wizzrd, as they have so understood Edison or Gould? No? Then per mi: me to express the opinion that he is per ni: me to express the opinion that he is as much of a magiciar in his sphere of action as Edston is in the mystic rea his of electricity. * * * There are things about this Emin Pasha Redict expedition that have never been, never will and never ought to be given to the public. Starley has in the estimation of us all—and much more so in the estimation of the writer, who has talked with him, and with all the Edropean members of the expectition, as well as with the Emin—proved himself a still more wonderful man than we had thought him. I don't know whether he would consider the name I have given bin in this brick communication a compliment or the reverse of complimentary, but the "Wizhrd of Africa" is the most appropriate name I can think of after all I have scenaul "Withrd of Africa" is the most appropriate maniel can think of after all I have scenarul heard, and I dolf my but to brains, if not to heart, with increased admiration as my pen bestows the title.

Your correspondent called on Stantey at Shepheard's (Cairo) on the day following his arrival. He was found installed, in the most luxurious apartment in this famous hotel.

Of his great glory the veteran explorer lounged all day in a room gorgeously upholstered, smoked cigurs—good ones, too, as the World man can testify—had his means brught up, and received such visitors as were decued of utilicient importance in the world to merit the coveted honor. The writer isn't of much importance, perhaps, but as the representative of an important newspaper and the one who had been first to congratulate him on his steems at Muwn, my card was responded to by a co-dial invitation to enter.

The explorer was looking well, and was natify drassed in a suit of rather loudish gray. If Mr. Stanley were twe try years younger he would become one of the dresslest young men imaginable. There was nothing slouchy about his get-up, on this occasion, though he was a good many removes from being a stude.

The sepret," he said, "of my success is largely due to the fact that I never take risks. I have always made it a point to be stronger than the people I went among. In order to be successful in Africa you must always be master. If you are not you become at once the plaything of fortune, and your greatest ambitions are likely to be thwarted by the waim of some childish, tyrannical African. The forces of nature are herd enough to contend against in Africa, and a man should always be stronger enough to not only make sure that the resistance of the nutives will be powedees against him, but to enlist their aid it necessary now and then."

Mr. Stanley wild be intended to remain in but to enlist their old it necessary now and then."

Mr. Stanley said be intended to remain in Criro some time, though he was not then prepared to say exactly how long. He would stay a few days at Shepheard's and then take rooms in some quieter part of the city, where he would be less werried by callers. People of whom he had never heard in his life kept sending up their cards, and in order to get a minute to himself he was compelled to refuse about two out of every three, and he always had his meals brought up to his rooms.

HE WANTED TO BEING EMIN FASHA

HE WANTED TO BRING EMIN PASHA A'ong with the party to Egypt, as he thought A ong with the party to Egypt, as he thought the Pasha would have been far better off aligned ship than lying at Bagamoyo. He was of the opinion that the Emin might have been carefully carried stoard on a stretcher without doing him any injury, and once aboard and at sea his chances for recovery would have been greatly improved. He thought Emin might get well enough to come to Egypt by the next mat steamer a month later. The Anglo-American explorer smiled amussally when asked what he had done to offend the susceptibilities of the French, but made no comment. The French of the french but made no comment. The French cofficials did not take part in Stanley's welcome at Suca.—En.

Other cards arriving, and one of them evidently bearing the cognomen of an important visitor, your correspondent took his leave. It was observed that Stunley still sicks to his old Congo cap—bough, of course, he didn't wan it in the room—that we found him wearing at Mauwa, and that he had worn all the way across; the continuet. It had been newly covered with white stiff, however, at Zanzina, by the delt finthe Pasha would have been far better off he had worn an the way across, the contract. I thad been newly covered with white staff, however, at Zanzibar, by the deft fingers of Mrs. Colonel Evan-Smith, and so presented quite a respectable and not unplituresque appearance. Stanley's officersyowed that he intended wearing it as far as London. Stanley was milityly hydigmant that a certain newspaper, which ought to, have known better, had called this headgent a 'President can' in one of ills cablegaring. rrown better, had cannot this dealgerr a 'Prussian cap' in one of its cablegraphic effusions. If the correspondent was ignor-ant of the nice distinction between a Cango cap and a Prussian cap, the editor of the offending newspaper should have known amough to have corrected so paliable a misbacong to have corrected by paradox and take.

Down-stairs in Stanley's letter-box were probably a thousand notes and cards that hid been left by callers who had not considered themselves of enough importance to obtain an audience, but still wished to have the satisfaction of leaving their cards.

DINNERS, RECEPTIONS, DALLS,... And the usual round of entertainments kept something on the board for every evening. On January 16 there was a state banquet of FOOD WAS SCARCE AND BAD. Stories have also gone the round of the papers that Stanley's policy on his expeditions has been to secure the attachment of his followed by the standard of the secure the standard of the secure the secure the standard of the secure that secure the secure the secure that se has been to secure the attachment of his followers by allowing them to plunder and work their will among the native tribes. Lieutenant Stairs desired the writer to say particularly from him that any such statement is entirely groundless, and Barke, Jephaon, Nelson and Bonny all testfied that Stanley always punished severely any of his men who were caught steading so much as an ear of corn from a friendly people. With hostiles, of course, severe measures Lad sometimes to be adopted.
